STATE HIGHWAY WELL ON WAY TO COMPLETION

Work Being Hastened On Lincoln Avenue Extension

NOW LAYING CONCRETE

Center Gap Has Been Closed and Workmen Are Engaged on This End

Providing there is good weather and providing there are no unlooked for contingencies that will result in work being stopped, the construction of Lincoln avenue extension by contractors Hastings and Piper for the state, will be finished shortly. The contractors are now working on this end, and during the last few days have been engaged in laying the concrete foundation. Brick is to be used for paving.

After having finished a portion of the road towards the end far out from Charleroi Hastings and Piper were instructed to discontinue their efforts by the State Highway Department. This was in December, and was taken as a means of precaution because of the oncoming winter.

The contractors were permitted to bgin work a few weeks ago on the stretch of highway. Since that time they have closed in gap in the center of the section about 500 feet long.

Following the completion of the Lincoln avenue extension it is expected that Hastings and Piper will make a start on the McKean avenue section leading from First street, Charleroi, to Maple Creek, a part lying in the borough. This is a portion of the road that is declared unqualifiedly to be one of the worst in the state. Experts who are familiar with road making and who have seen veritable swamps converted into decent highways say frankly that in bad weather the Speers-Charleroi highway takes the prize for badness. The worse part is between Maple Creek and Speers, and it is the part this side of Maple Creek bridge that will be improved first.

While the contractors are engaged in the work of completion of the Lincoln avenue extension concrete and paving the borough force is making a provisional road leading down around Lincoln avenue providing a method of ingress and egress.

COUPLE WEDDED IN CUMBERLAND

Miss Sarah McGuill, the daughter of John McGuill, and Felix Boehme, both of Charleroi were married on Monday at Cumberland. Md. They left without telling their most intimate friends and the first inkling of their marriage came when they telegraphed The bride was for some time employed at the Casino restaurant.

Brigade on Hike.

The Washington Avenue Brigade took its first hike of the summer Tuesday evening, under Capt. Charles Wallgren. The hike was out the Flinn road a distance of about three miles, thence across the country to the hill road and back into town. The hike started at 7 o'clock and the brigade returned at 11.

Marbles Are Distributed

A barrel of marbles was distributed this morning to the boys of Charleroi at the playgrounds. The marbles were the gift of Jesse K. Johnston, former superintendent of the Charleroi Coal Works, who now resides in Pittsburg. All the marbles were of the "shooter" variety. Each lad was given a bag full by the superintendent of the playgrounds, E. B. Amos. Some time ago Mr. Johnston gave 500 cherry trees to Charleroi boys.

SENATE FINALLY WINNER

IMPORTANT BILLS DUE

Harrisburg, June 11.—In a game of freeze-out between the house and the senate the latter has won, and the house Tuesday evening by a vote of 101 to 76 voted to adjourn on June 26. This is expected to be concurred in by the senate, and the big rush to make the getaway will start at once. Speaker Altar opposed the adjournment, as all the important bills are still being held up by the senate, but the members, many of whom were feeling the drain financially of the prolonged session, finally gave in to the siege of the senate.

The important measures which must be disposed of between now and June 26 are the public utilities bill, child labor, workmen's compensation, woman's labor, state-wide primary, election legislation, congressional apportionment, legislative apportionment, senatorial apportionment, general apportionment, general appropriation bill, and charity appropriations. All these important measures are to be jammed through or killed within the next few days, and in the hurry it is expected that the most of the measures will be so changed that the original intent will in many instances be lost sight of.

The senate, in its tactics to emasculate the workmen's compensation bill, which Governor Tene, advocates, has run afoul the labor interests of the state, and indications are that the senate will surrender, and try to effect a compromise. President Maurer of the state federation of labor, after consulting with the heads and committees of all branches of the various labor organizations throughout the state, is all ready to call a state wide strike of all organized labor as a protest against the reactionary senate if the teeth are pulled out of the compensation law. It is stated that Senator Crow, who has been bent on killing the bill, sees that he is up "again it," and will try to talk compromise to the labor people.

All of the nine election bills pledged by the Republican state convention, and passed by the house, that were to come up this week have been postponed by the senate until later on, owing to the absence of several of the senators. The next two weeks are likly to be strenuous ones, and some interesting developments are expected.

WORK PROGRESSING WELL ON NEW WEST SIDE TROLLEY LINE

Anticipated That Cars Will be Operated by July 4 on Bentleyville End--Are Continuing Grading Work

Grading is being gotten well under way on this end of the West Side Electric Street railway line to be built through to Bentleyville. A force of men is engaged on making a fill along Lincoln avenue out past First street. On the other end of the line, at Bentleyville, work is being hastened, and in the center there is much activity. The company is doing a large part of the work themselves, though in the center a Brownsville construction firm is busy.

On the Charleroi section the laying of ties and tracks will be started at the end of Fallowfield avenue, the present terminus of the system. Already there are a large number of ties on hand to be used for the track. The line continues out along the side of Lincoln avenue and up Maple Creek to branch over the hill at Samuel Nelson's farm towards Bentleyville.

On the Bentleyville end tracks have been laid and affairs are nearly in shape for the actual operation of cars from the coke ovens at Ellsworth through to Weaver station. It is probable that by July 4 the people of that community will see the first cars and will benefit from the beginning of service

ARE WEDDED AT CHURCH RECTORY

RECEPTION FOR COUPLE

This morning at 11 o'clock at the rectory parlors of St. Jerome's Catholic church Rev. W. D. Fries, pastor of the church performed the ceremony which united the lives of Miss Ethel Dean, the popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dean and Alex Williams, a well known young man of Charleroi. The attendants were Miss Sarah Claybaugh and Peter Jones, the latter a brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride was beautifully gowned in a suit of tan cut on the Bulgarian pattern and presented a lovely appearance. Directly after the wedding the couple went to the home of the bride's mother on Meadow avenue. There awaiting their coming were a number of guests who constituted the members of the immediate families and intimate friends.

A dinner was served and a reception tendered the young couple in honor of their marriage and the occasion was made a real function.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams for the present will reside on Meadow avenue at the home of the bride's mother, but later will probably take up housekeeping elsewhere. The groom is a valued employe of the Hussy-Binns Shovel company.

If you are thinking of buying a home in Charleroi be sure to see us before purchasing. We have several desirable homes at a bargain. When you want a vacant lot be sure to see us. For residences we have the most desirable lots in Charleroi and for investment we have lots on McKean avenue that certainly are a bargain. Charleroi Real Estate Agency Co. CHARLEROI WILL LEAD SUNDAY SCHOOL PARADE

Prof. Midney to Give Talk

Noted Socialist Lecturer to Appear on Charleroi Street Tonight

Prof. Frank Midney, formerly professor of oratory at the University of Chicago, will lecture at the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue at 8 o'clock this evening. Mr. Midney is a logical and forcible speaker on the economic questions of the day, and is highly commended by the press. Concerning his ability as a lecturer the New York Call says:

"The west has furnished a few able agitators and Frank Midney is one of the best. His arguments are carefully planned; they sparkle with wit and humor; they bite with sarcasm; they sear with irony. His epigrams are like shots from a rapid fire gun. The curious are amazed, the audience hangs on the speaker's words with rapt attention. His answers to questions win applause every time."

Each player is requested to provide his uniform and in so doing to be very careful as to what kind of uniform he provides.

LOCAL PEOPLE LAY PLANS FOR TRIP TO WASHINGTON

SPECIAL CAR WILL RUN

Anticipated That There Will be From 80 to 100 Persons Go From Here

First place in the men's big parade to take place tomorrow night at the Sunday school convention at Washington is what the Charleroi delegation will get. Joseph W. Martin of Washington, who is the chief marshal for the parade was in town this morning and conferred with the Charleroi marshal, W. H. Milliken, and promised to see that Charleroi, having been the convention town last year, be given the honor position this year.

Decorated with banners and with large streamers the special car in which the Charleroi delegation will travel will leave Charleroi at 3:12 o'clock in the afternoon. Arrangements have been made for a special rate so that as many as can be accommodated in the car can go. It is anticipated that there will be between 80 and 100 persons to make the trip from Charleroi. This will include some women, arrangements having been made that they can go, even though they do not take part in the parade.

When the parade starts, it is believed the Charleroi delegation will be one of the most conspicuous. Marchers will carry flags and umbrellas and there will be a large "O. A. B. C." banner carried. For instance in the front line there will alternate red, white and blue umbrella and a flag, and so on all the way back. The largest and one of the best bands in the county, the Canonsburg band of 30 pieces will lead Charleroi, having been employed for that purpose by local men.

The chief address at the men's meeting to be held Thursday exening will be made by J. Denny O'Neil, of McKeesport, who will speak on "Booze and Politics," a similar topic to that he lectured on at the local Methodist Episcopal church some time ago. The return trip to Charleroi will be made immediately after the evening meeting.

WHERE MEN FAIL.

In a recent magazine article Jane Addam, who is perhaps the foremost woman sociological worker of the present age, advances as an argument for woman suffrage man's inadequacy to grapple with laws governing the conduct of women and children because of his inherent lack of understanding from any one's viewpoint except his own. For that reason, Miss Addam argues, he is incompetent to pass laws to regulate and control child and woman labor, and to be the sole arbiter of their destinies.

No more striking example of this is necessary than to cite the average man's conduct about his own home and his utter disregard of order and even cleanliness. The ordinary man thinks nothing of scattering cigar ashes about the house, throwing burnt matches on the floor, leaving all his belongings lying around, or tracking in mud, dirt and dust. He will tolerate a degree of disorder, filth and unsanitary conditions that are abhorrent to a woman, and which but for her efforts would soon rule supreme. All that is necesary to prove this argument is to point to the horrible unsanitary conditions and the terrible industrial tyranny in child and woman labor that have prevailed since the dawn of history down to within the past fifty years. The only reason for these terrible conditions was because man was charged with the supreme power to make the laws and regulate these conditions.

It is only since women have begun to assert themselves that conditions are changing for the better. No more logical argument can be presented as to man's incompetency to deal with economic conditions governing women and children than his [illegible] it is a shameful one.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

[illegible] been rendered by [illegible] States supreme court [illegible] far-reaching importance. [illegible] that states have a right to [illegible] two-cent a mile passenger rate for railroads. The case on which the decision was based was in Minnesota, and the decision affects railroads in that state.

This decision has an important bearing on a similar situation in this state. Some time ago the Pennsylvania legislature passed an act establishing a two-cent passenger rate for the railroads operating in this state. The law went into effect, but the Pennsylvania Railroad company contested the law on the grounds that its provisions were confiscatory. The state supreme court upheld this contention, and the law was declared inoperative, and the two-cent rate was abolished. Now, according to the decision of the highest court of appeal in the land, a law that the Pennsylvania supreme court declared to be confiscatory on the prosperous lines of the Pennsylvania system, is declared not to be confiscatory in the less populous and agricultural state of Minnesota

This again demonstrates that such court decisions are largely a matter of opinion and this in turn is influenced by prevailing public sentiment. In view of the progressive sentiment that is now sp eading among the people it is a noteworthy fact that court decisions which a few years ago seemed to be dominated largely from a vested interest point of view have been radically changing. Popular sentiment is getting away from the idea that vested interests have the right of way in law, and the court decisions are being based accordingly.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Some of the state senators and assemblymen will have a strenuous time if they attempt to succed themselves in the legislature next session," said a prominent labor organization man of the valley recently, who had just returned from Harrisburg. "For the first time in its existence the State Federation of Labor has maintained headquarters in Harrisburg during all the entire session and has kept close and accurate tab on all members, particularly their attitude on the various labor measures that are pending. This record will be tabulated and clasified, and every member who was hostile or voted adversely will be opposed for re-election. Speakers and workers will be sent into his district, and a systematic campaign, financed by the State Federation of Labor will be waged in opposition to him.

"Not only is the State Federation of Labor adopting this policy for future campaigns, but the temperance people are equally active. The Anti-Saloon League is also tabulating and classifying every member's record, and it is announced that they intend to pursue the same tactics as the labor people. Then there are some members who pledged themselvse to get the support of the Washington party at the last election who went back on their pledges. These will also be 'gone after' systematically and regularly, I'm told, so that the member who does not have a record that will plague him when he comes up for reelection will be a most extraordinary man."

"Wait a minute there, young fellow," ordered Patrolman James Murphy when a motor cyclist approached the corner of Fifth street and McKean avenue Tuesday afternoon. Such was the injunction of the patrolman. The movement to compel obedience of the automobile and motor cycle laws is to continue and evil practices broken up.

NO FEAR OF A "HOLY WAR"

The possibility that the green flag of the prophet may be lifted by the sultan of Turkey, who is invested with dread dignity as the successor of Mohammed, always excites comment when the Turk is at war with the Frank. But the magic phrase, "a holy war," bears examination no better than the generalization called "the Oriental mind," writes William T. Ellis in the Century. Italy has just proved in Tripoli that fanaticism hurls itself in vain against modern machine guns, and the forces upon which the leaders of a "jehad," or holy war, can rely, are, except in the case of Turkey itself, wholly unorganized along modern military lines. Even the Arabs' immemorial maneuver of striking a swift blow and then retiring to the fastnesses of the oases is thwarted by the scouting aeroplane. Mobs cannot fight armies. In the old rush of spearsmen and swordsmen and bowmen the casualties were comparatively so few that the wounded might be carried away or left behind. Modern weapons do a wholesale business; they are to the old ways as the steam reaper to the sickle.

Another factor, unheeded by the romantic, which time has injected into any possible conflict between the followers of the prophet and the civilized powers is that of a navy. The recent experience of Turkey with Italy is sufficient commentary upon this. An armed rising of all Islam against all Christendom is utterly impossible Even in India the unorganized, undrilled, unarmed and scattered Moslems, numerous as they are, could not hope to prevail against the British troops.

How Old Is a Relic?

How old must a relic be to possess historical importance? The discussion of the fate of the old assay office suggests the question. Mr. E. H. Hall of the Scenic and Historic Preservation society, who as a professional saver of relics may perhaps qualify as an expert, says that the assay office "is not even a hundred years old, and I think a building should be at least that old to have much historic value." Obviously, however, the strict application of this rule to determine the claims of any building to preservation would mean, in a rapidly changing and developing community, the destruction of practically everything of present moderate and future great historic interest. Conservation of potential relics is necessary if we are to have real ones. If a thing must endure its full century before it begins to be regarded as venerable ,there is very little chance in this country of its ever becoming venerable at all. The rule would send it to the dump heap at ninety without remorse, even if its character were such that, had the march of business been ten years slower, it would have come to be treasured in the relic class.—New York Tribune.

Southern Tunis boasts of a houseless town having a population of 5,000 people. They are troglodytes, whose fathers before them lived in similar caves.

Recording Finger Prints.

Hitherto it has been customary in following up criminal clews, to make a permanent record of finger prints by photographic means. This method, however, has a number of obvious disadvantages. Thus, for example, cases arise in which the finger print to be recorded is not accessible to an ordinary camera. Or again it may be located upon some rounded surface which cannot be properly focused. Dr. Heindl describes one or two new methods which overcome these difficulties The first method consists in dusting the impression—which is always more or less greasy—with some colored powder, and then expressing against it a paper treated with a mixture of fifty grams wax, fifty grams paraffin, and twenty drops of glycerin An excelent inverted copy is thus obtained, and as the paper is entirely flexible any kind of a surface can be thus treated. The second method makes use of photographic gelatine paper in place of that prepared as above.

Bad Men Feel Pain More.

Does a bad man feel pain more than a man who leads an honest life? It has been stated apropos the decision of the British house of commons to punish white slavers by flogging, that by a happy provision of nature the skin appears actually to become more sensitive as the moral sense becomes deadened. A doctor said that as a rule those who are criminally inclined bear pain or bodily suffering of any kind extremely badly. Men who are quite hardened on the moral side of their character seem to get more self-conscious about their physical feelings than ordinary men do. A man who is morally lax leads a loose life and destroys his nervous system. He feels pain much more acutely than a man of average temperate habits and a clean conscience.

Insurance for Mountain Climbers.

Owing to the large number of accidents occurring every year to mountain climbers and tourists in the Alps, several Swiss insurance companies have established an accident policy for the benefit of persons undertaking these mountain excursions. For a premium of 12 cents a seaso ncertain Alpine clubs offer insurance to their premium of 12 cents a season certain with medical care, etc., included. An insurance company of Vienna offers "Alpine insurance" at a premium of $1.42 a year for every $203 of benefit in case of accident which causes invalidity or death. The amount of the premium is less in case groups of five or ten persons are insured together. There is also an insurance policy issued for the winter season against ski and bobsleigh accidents in the Alps

NOTHING OF DIGNITY

A curious childish horseplay of the Holi festival, which is celebrated annually by the maharajah of Patiala, is described by Mr. Charles Bertram.

Early in the morning I went to the club, where I found many of the guests, who were taking part in the ceremony for the first time. We were provided with a complete new suit of Hindu garments and our dressing was superintended by the maharaja's servants. We had camels, elephants and victorias provided for us. I was on an elephant in a kind of box, and we drove in procession to the palace in the native city.

We were received with great acclaim by the natives, and I was led to believe that it was to be decidedly a dignified occasion; but I was woefully distaken. The fun had not begun. Certain formalities had to be gone through before the signal was given.

We took our seats in the courtyard of the palace, at a long table that was loaded with large gilt dishes filled with different colored balls as large as oranges and filled with Holi powder. At a signal the brother of the maharaja came to the front of the table and salaamed to the prince, who took one of the balls and threw it gently across the tabile, striking the officer on the breast.

The ball broke and scattered the powder over his costume. Then there was a general scramble, and in less time than it takes to write, hundreds of balls were flying about, their many colored contents scattered broadcast on the crowd. Next baskets of loose powder were thrown upon us in handfuls.

It was no use to expostulate; the moment you opened your mouth somebody filled it with powder. The battle grew fast and furious, when suddenly an enormous stream of water from a fire engine drenched everybody. The colored powder became wet, and mingling together, dyed us all in brilliant variegated hues.

After this sort of thing had gone on for half an hour it ceased by mutual consent, and we returned to the private gardens of the maharajah, where we were most unceremoniously pitched into a tank of running water. I was dyed a deep scarlet all over my body, and it was fully a month before the color entirely disappeared from my face and hands.—Youth's Companion.

End of a Noted Folly.

The monocle has long since been out of fashion in England, and is soon to disappear from Paris, which has been its last stronghold. It was invented by a Dutch dandy, and its evil effects upon the eye were at once noted by oculists. The monocle first appeared at the congress of Vienna in 1814, when it was worn by its inventor. One folly, at least, has had only about a century of life.

Climate Failed; Medicine Effective

It has been absolutely shown that rest, fresh air and good food do help many persons suffering from Tuberculosis. But it must be admitted that the disease is seldom more than "arrested." Something more is needed.

Eckman's Alterative is a medicine made for the treatment of Tuberculosis. It has conquered this disease again and again. Often these benefits have been effected where the surroundings were not ideal—yet recoveries resulted. Now we argue that Eckman's Alterative should be used in every case of Tuberculosis, in addition to good, nourishing food and fresh air, which we all need. A remarkable case follows: Weldon, Ill.

"Gentlemen: Through Eckman's Alterative I have been saved from a premature grave. On December 14, 1904, I was taken with Typhoid Pneumonia My lungs became very much affected; my sputum was examined and Tuberculosis Bacilli were found. On February 21, 1905, I was advised to go to Fort Worth, Texas. While there an abscess in my right lung broke and discharged I grew worse and became very much emaciated My physician informed me that I must go to Colorado as quickly as possible I left Texas, June 21 and arrived in Canon City, June 3 very feeble After being there two weeks, my physician informed me that my case was hopeless. Three weeks later I returned home, weighing 102 pounds, the doctor having given me no assurance of reaching there alive.

"On July 14, 1905, I began taking Eckman's wonderful remedy for Consumption. Today I weigh 158 pounds. I am stout and well and can do any kind of work about my grain elevator I have not an ache nor pain in my lungs, eat well, sleep well, and never felt better."

(Sworn affidavit) ARTHUR WEBB.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons opiates or habit-forming drugs. Cultivate Sense of Humor.

A sense of humor is certainly the salt of life, either of the married variety or the plain, single existence. It certainly helps a wife to laugh off many a little bruise that otherwise would grow into a festering sore. To see the funny side of many of the trivial annoyances of life at the time they happen certainly eases the situation.

WAYS OF FRENCH BEGGARS

Beggars and professional vagabonds who have passed thirty years do not fail each year when the winds of October blow to select their winter quarters.

It is then that each of them commits some offense, well knowing that he will get a penalty of six months' imprisonment. The delinquent sometimes his offense that he will not be at liberty until the month of April, in the first warm breezes of spring. He chooses his winter quarters wisely, for he knows the good and bad prisons.

Fresnes, because of its valued and luxurious accommodations, occupies the first rank among prisons. This year the temperature was such as to bring about some true knavery on the part of these beggars and vagabonds. From the month of August they were forced to commit some offense in order to assure themselves a shelter.

So la Sante, the antechamber of Fresnes, was gorged with prisoners for whom the tardy rays of the September sun proved a cruel irony. If the magistrates show clemency and condemn these derelicts to only six months of prison the disaster of these poor devils will be complete, for they will, without pity, be thrown into the street in the open month of January.—le Ori de Paris.

ARE HANDSOMEST IN WORLD

Royal Irish Constabulary Bear Off the Palm From All Police of the Earth.

According to those most entitled to speak on the comparative pulchritude of the police, the Royal Irish Constabulary bear off the palm from all policemen in all other parts of the world. Dean Hole is quoted in the London Chronicle as contributing the following tribute to the fascinations of the noble Irish force:

"Our London police are well favored in appearance, but if the Royal Irish Constabulary were to take their place for a week there wouldn't be a single female servant to be warranted heart whole in the metropolis."

London goes to the rural districts for its policemen largely, and the result is often as amusing, not to say exasperating, as that which arises in New York from the employment of foreign car conductors, sublimely ignorant of city streets and neighborhoods. The Chronicle writer tells of an encounter with an inexperienced policeman who was asked the whereabouts of a famous firm in the neighborhood, to which query the new bobby replied gayly:

"Bless ye, I know no more than yourself, sir. I only came up from Dorset yesterday."

Tea Drinking a Vice?

A foreign critic says: "In hunting a cause for this apparent decadence of the once mighty people (the British), some scientists have had much to say on the subject of tea drinking, for nowhere else is the habit so universal as in the British Isles. Women and children drink tea off and on during the day. Business men have to stop their work at intervals to partake of their tea. And in most instances the brew is exceptionally strong. It has been estimated that each person in Great Britain, on an average, takes a daily dose of 3.6 grains of alkaloid and 9.7 grains of tannin consumed in tea. This means that the average tea drinker takes half as much alkaloid and nearly as much tannin as the Maximum allowed by the British pharmacopoeia for an occasional dose. And, of course, many thousands of people drink a great deal more than the average dose."

Speed of a Bullet.

Experiments with improved instruments for measuring the velocity of projectiles have shown that the speed goes on increasing after the missile has left the mouth of the cannon. Leaving the muzzle with a velocity of 1,474 feet a second, a projectile has been observed to increase its speed to 1,689 feet a second within the first six feet. It is only after having traveled 25 yards that the projectile's velocity becomes reduced to the speed it has on leaving the muzzle. This is ascribed to the impulse of the expanding gas being felt for some distance beyond the cannon's mouth.

Cheek.

"Cheek" in the sense of impudence is an old term. The earliest quotation in Sir James Murray's dictionary is from Captain Marryat (1840). But it has lately been found in the sixteenth century records of Galway, in the west of Ireland. The municipal rulers of that fighting city—the "man from Galway" has become proverbial for pluck and readiness to defend the hottest of corners—decreed that any person giving "cheek" to the mayor should "forfeit 100 shillings and have his body put into prison."

Varying Melting Points.

The melting points of various heat-resisting materials have been thus determined by the United States bureau of standards: Fireclay brick, 2,831 to 3,137 degrees Fahrenheit; bauxite brick, 2,841 to 3,245 degrees; chromite brick, 3,772 degrees; magnesia brick, 3,929 degrees; bauxite, 3,303 degrees; chromite, 3,956 degrees; pure alumina, 3,650 degrees; pure silica, 3,182 degrees; silicon carbide, beginning to decompose at 4,038 degrees, but does not melt below 4,892 degrees.

STATE HIGHWAY WELL ON WAY TO COMPLETION

Work Being Hastened On Lincoln Avenue Extension

NOW LAYING CONCRETE

Center Gap Has Been Closed and Workmen Are Engaged on This End

Providing there is good weather and providing there are no unlooked for contingencies that will result in work being stopped, the construction of Lincoln avenue extension by contractors Hastings and Piper for the state, will be finished shortly. The contractors are now working on this end, and during the last few days have been engaged in laying the concrete foundation. Brick is to be used for paving.

After having finished a portion of the road towards the end far out from Charleroi Hastings and Piper were instructed to discontinue their efforts by the State Highway Department. This was in December, and was taken as a means of precaution because of the oncoming winter.

The contractors were permitted to bgin work a few weeks ago on the stretch of highway. Since that time they have closed a gap in the center of the section about 600 feet long.

Following the completion of the Lincoln avenue extension it is expected that Hastings and Piper will make a start on the McKean avenue section leading from First street, Charleroi, to Maple Creek, a part lying in the borough. This is a portion of the road that is declared unqualifiedly to be one of the worst in the state. Experts who are familiar with road making and who have seen veritable swamps converted into decent highways say frankly that in bad weather the Speers-Charleroi highway takes the prize for badness. The worse part is between Maple Creek and Speers, and it is the part this side of Maple Creek bridge that will be improved first.

While the contractors are engaged in the work of completion of the Lincoln avenue extension concrete and paving the borough force is making a provisional road leading down around Lincoln avenue providing a method of ingress and egress.

COUPLE WEDDED IN CUMBERLAND

Miss Sarah McGuill, the daughter of John McGuill, and Felix Boehme, both of Charleroi were married on Monday at Cumberland, Md. They left without telling their most intimate friends and the first inkling of their marriage came when they telegraphed The bride was for some time employed at the Casino restaurant.

Brigade on Hike.

The Washington Avenue Brigade took its first hike of the summer Tuesday evening, under Capt. Charles Wallgren. The hike was out the Flinn road a distance of about three miles, thence across the country to the hill road and back into town. The hike started at 7 o'clock and the brigade returned at 11.

Marbles Are Distributed

A barrel of marbles was distributed this morning to the boys of Charleroi at the playgrounds. The marbles were the gift of Jesse K. Johnston, former superintendent of the Charleroi Coal Works, who now resides in Pittsburg. All the marbles were of the "shooter" variety. Each lad was given a bag full by the superintendent of the playgrounds, E. B. Amos. Some time ago Mr. Johnston gave 500 cherry trees to Charleroi boys.

SENATE FINALLY WINNER

IMPORTANT BILLS DUE

Harrisburg, June 11.—In a game of freeze-out between the house and the senate the latter has won, and the house Tuesday evening by a vote of 101 to 76 voted to adjourn on June 26. This is expected to be concurred in by the senate, and the big rush to make the getaway will start at once. Speaker Altar opposed the adjournment, as all the important bills are still being held up by the senate, but the members, many of whom were feeling the drain financially of the prolonged session, finally gave in to the siege of the senate.

The important measures which must be disposed of between now and June 26 are the public utilities bill, child labor, workman's compensation, woman's labor, state-wide primary, election legislation, congressional apportionment, legislative apportionment, senatorial apportionment, general apportionment, general appropriation bill, and charity appropriations. All these important measures are to be jammed through or killed within the next few days, and in the hurry it is expected that the most of the measures will be so charged that the original intent will in many instances be lost sight of.

The senate, in its tactics to emasculate the workmen's compensation bill, which Governod Tener advocates has run afoul the labor interests of the state, and indications are that the senate will surrender, and try to effect a compromise. President Mauser of the state federation of labor, after consulting with the heads and committees of all branches of the various labor organizations throughout the state, is all ready to call a state wide strike of all organized labor as a protest against the reactionary senate if the teeth are pulled out of the compensation law. It is stated that Senator Crow, who has been bent on killing the bill, sees that he is up "agin it," and will try to talk compromise to the labor people.

All of the nine election bills pledged by the Republican state convention, and passed by the house, that were to come up this week have been postponed by the senate until later on, owing to the absence of several of the senators. The next two weeks are likly to be strenuous ones, and some interesting developments are expected.

Anticipated That Cars Will be Operated by July 4 on Bentleyville End--Are Continuing Grading Work

Grading is being gotten well under Electric Street railway line to be built through to Bentleyville. A force of men is engaged on making a fill along Lincoln avenue out past First street. On the other end of the line, at Bentleyville, work is being hastened, and in the center there is much activity. The company is doing a large part of the work themselves, though in the center a Brownsville construction firm is busy.

On the Charleroi section the laying of ties and tracks will be started at the end of Fallowfield avenue, the present terminus of the system. Already there are a large number of ties on hand to be used for the track. The line continues out along the side of Lincoln avenue and up Maple Creek to branch over the hill at Samuel Nelson's farm towards Bentleyville.

On the Bentleyville end tracks have been laid and affairs are nearly in shape for the actual operation of cars from the coke ovens at Ellsworth through to Weaver station. It is probable that by July 4 the people of that community will see the first cars and will benefit from the beginning of service

RECEPTION FOR COUPLE

This morning at 11 o'clock at the rectory parlors of St. Jerome's Catholic church Rev. W. D. Fries, pastor of the church performed the ceremony which united the lives of Miss Ethel Dean, the popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dean and Alex Williams, a well known young man of Charleroi. The attendants were Miss Sarah Claybaugh and Peter Jones, the latter a brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride was beautifully gowned in a suit of tan cut on the Bulgarian pattern and presented a lovely appearance. Directly after the wedding the couple went to the home of the bride's mother on Meadow avenue. There awaiting their coming were a number of guests who constituted the members of the immediate families and intimate friends.

A dinner was served and a reception tendered the young couple in honor of their marriage and the occasion was made a real function.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams for the present will reside on Meadow avenue at the home of the bride's mother, but later will probably take up housekeeping elsewhere. The groom is a valued employe of the Hussy-Binns Shovel company.

If you are thinking of buying a home in Charleroi be sure to see us before purchasing. We have several desirable homes at a bargain. When you want a vacant lot be sure to see us. For residences we have the most desirable lots in Charleroi and for investment we have lots on McKean avenue that certainly are a bargain. Charleroi Real Estate Agency Co. CHARLEROI WILL LEAD SUNDAY SCHOOL PARADE

Appear on Charleroi Street Tonight

Prof. Frank Midney, formerly professor of oratory at the University of Chicago, will lecture at the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue at 8 o'clock this evening. Mr. Midney is a logical and forcible speaker on the economic questions of the day, and is highly commended by the press. Concerning his ability as a lecturer the New York Call says:

"The west has furnished a few able agitators and Frank Midney is one of the best. His arguments are carefully planned; they sparkle with wit and humor; they bite with sarcasm; they sear with irony. His epigrams are like shots from a rapid fire gun. The curious are amazed, the audience hangs on the speaker's words with rapt attention. His answers to questions win applause every time."

LINEUPS PREPARED FOR GAME

Captains John B. Schafer and Robt. Vetter Ready for Benefit Contest

FOR THE PLAYGROUNDS

Captains John B. Schafer and Robert O. Vetter of the two teams to play a benefit game at the baseball park next Tuesday for the Charleroi playgrounds have announced their lineups, and partial plans for the game. Burgess George W. Risbeck has been asked to heave the first ball. For some queer reason the name of the umpire is being kept dark. Each player is requested to provide his uniform and in so doing to be very careful as to what kind of uniform he provides.

Captain Schafer's lineup will be as follows, exactly as he prepared it: John Jenkins, second base; K. W. Daly, first base; Roland W. Brown, sub; John B. Schafer, pitcher; Seward Might, shortstop; J. W. Mathias, pitcher; John M. Fleming, middle field; Burgess Risbeck, bat boy; M. T. Crowley, pitcher; J. K. Rickey, catcher; J. A. Wheeler, left field; Jack Teitelbaum, sub; W. R. Gaut, right field; W. H. Zellers, Jr., catcher; Dr. J. Clive Enos, third base; Dr. G. H. Smith, sub; "Shorty" Brinham, water boy; Ray Emrich, sub.

Local People Lay Plans for Trip to Washington

SPECIAL CAR WILL RUN

Anticipated That There Will be From 80 to 100 Persons Go From Here

First place in the men's big parade to take place tomorrow night at the Sunday school convention at Washington is what the Charleroi delegation will get. Joseph W. Martin of Washington, who is the chief marshal for the parade was in town this morning and conferred with the Charleroi marshal, W. H. Milliken, and promised to see that Charleroi, having been the convention town last year, be given the honor position this year.

Decorated with banners and with large streamers the special car in which the Charleroi delegation will travel will leave Charleroi at 3:12 o'clock in the afternoon. Arrangements have been made for a special rate so that as many as can be accommodated in the car can go. It is anticipated that there will be between 80 and 100 persons to make the trip from Charleroi. This will include some women, arrangements having been made that they can go, even though they do not take part in the parade.

When the parade starts, it is believed the Charleroi delegation will be one of the most conspicuous. Marchers will carry flags and umbrellas and there will be a large "O. A. B. C." banner carried. For instance in the front line there will alternate red, white and blue umbrella and a flag, and so on all the way back. The largest and one of the best bands in the county, the Canonsburg band of 30 pieces will lead Charleroi, having been employed for that purpose by local men.

The chief address at the men's meeting to be held Thursday evening will be made by J. Denny O'Neil, of McKeesport, who will speak on "Booze and Politics," a similar topic to that he lectured on at the local Methodist Episcopal church some time ago. The return trip to Charleroi will be made immediately after the evening meeting.

Thursday Morning, June 12.

9:30 a. m. Children's hour.

WHERE MEN FAIL.

In a recent magazine article Jane Addam, who is perhaps the foremost woman sociological worker of the present age, advances as an argument for woman suffrage man's inadequacy to grapple with laws governing the conduct of women and children because of his inherent lack of understanding from any one's viewpoint except his own. For that reason, Miss Addam argues, he is incompetent to pass laws to regulate and control child and woman labor, and to be the sole arbiter of their destinies.

No more striking example of this is necessary than to cite the average man's conduct about his own home and his utter disregard of order and even cleanliness. The ordinary man thinks nothing of scattering cigar ashes about the house, throwing burnt matches on the floor, leaving all his belongings lying around, or tracking in mud, dirt and dust. He will tolerate a degree of disorder, filth and unsanitary conditions that are abhorrent to a woman, and which but for her efforts would soon rule supreme. All that is necesary to prove this argument is to point to the horrible unsanitary conditions and the terrible industrial tyranny in child and woman labor that have prevailed since the dawn of history down to within the past fifty years. The only reason for these terrible conditions was because man was charged with the supreme power to make the laws and regulate these conditions.

It is only since women have begun to assert themselves that conditions are changing for the better. No more logical argument can be presented as to man's incompetency to deal with economic conditions governing women and children than his ... record. It is a shameful one.

... decision ... been rendered by ... United States supreme court ... far-reaching importance. ... that states have a right to ... two-cent a mile passenger rate for railroads. The case on which the decision was based was in Minnesota and the decision affects ... in that state.

... is an important

state. Some time ago the Pennsylvania legislature passed an act establishing a two-cent passenger rate for the railroads operating in this state. The law went into effect, but the Pennsylvania Railroad company contested the law on the grounds that its provisions were confiscatory. The state supreme court upheld this contention, and the law was declared inoperative, and the two-cent rate was abolished. Now, according to the decision of the highest court of appeal in the land, a law that the Pennsylvania supreme court declared to be confiscatory on the prosperous lines of the Pennsylvania system, is declared not to be confiscatory in the less populous and agricultural state of Minnesota.

This again demonstrates that such court decisions are largely a matter of opinion and this in turn is influenced by prevailing public sentiment. In view of the progressive sentiment that is now sweeping among the people it is a noteworthy fact that court decisions which a few years ... from a vested interest point of view have been ... changing. Popular sentiment is getting away from the idea that vested interests have the right of way in law, and the court decisions are being based accordingly.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Some of the state senators and assemblymen will have a strenuous time if they attempt to succed themselves in the legislature next session," said a prominent labor organization man of the valley recently, who had just returned from Harrisburg. "For the first time in its existence the State Federation of Labor has maintained headquarters in Harrisburg during all the entire session and has kept close and accurate tab on all members, particularly their attitude on the various labor measures that are pending. This record will be tabulated and clasified, and every member who was hostile or voted adversely will be opposed for re-election. Speakers and workers will be ... into his district, and a systematic campaign, financed by the State Federation of Labor will be waged ... opposition to him.

"Not only is the State Federation of Labor adopting this policy for future campaigns, but the temperance people are equally active. The Anti-Saloon League is also tabulating and classifying every member's record, and it is announced that they intend to pursue the same tactics as the labor people. Then there are some members who pledged themselves to get the support of the Washington party at the last election who went back on their pledges. These will also be 'gone after' systematically and regularly, I'm told, so that the member who does not have a record that will plague him when he comes up for reelection will be a most extraordinary man."

"Wait a minute there, young fellow," ordered Patrolman James Murphy when a motor cyclist approached the corner of Fifth street and McKean avenue Tuesday afternoon. Such was the injunction of the patrolman. The movement to compel obedience of the automobile and motor cycle laws is to continue and evil practices broken up.

NO FEAR OF A "HOLY WAR"

The possibility that the green flag of the prophet may be lifted by the sultan of Turkey, who is invested with dread dignity as the successor of Mohammed, always excites comment when the Turk is at war with the Frank. But the magic phrase, "a holy war," bears examination no better than the generalization called "the Oriental mind," writes William T. Ellis in the Century Italy has just proved in Tripoli that fanaticism hurls itself in vain against modern machine guns, and the forces upon which the leaders of a "jehad," or holy war, can rely, are, except in the case of Turkey itself, wholly unorganized along modern military lines Even the Arabs' immemorial maneuver of striking a swift blow and then retiring to the fastnesses of the oases is thwarted by the scouting aeroplane Mobs cannot fight armies In the old rush of spearsmen and swordsmen and bowmen the casualties were comparatively so few that the wounded might be carried away or left behind. Modern weapons do a wholesale business; they are to the old ways as the steam reaper to the sickle

Another factor unheeded by the romantic, which time has injected into any possible conflict between the followers of the prophet and the civilized powers is that of a navy. The recent experience of Turkey with Italy is sufficient commentary upon this An armed rising of all Islam against all Christendom is utterly impossible Even in India the unorganized, undrilled, unarmed and scattered Moslems, numerous as they are, could not hope to prevail against the British troops

How Old Is a Relic?

How old must a relic be to possess historical importance? The discussion of the fate of the old assay office suggests the question Mr E H Hall of the Scenic and Historic Preservation society, who as a professional saver of relics may perhaps qualify as an expert, says that the assay office "is not even a hundred years old, and I think a building should be at least that old to have much historic value" Obviously, however, the strict application of this rule to determine the claims of any building to preservation would mean, in a rapidly changing and developing community, the destruction of practically everything of present moderate and future great historic interest. Conservation of potential relics is necessary if we are to have real ones It a thing must endure its full century before it begins to be regarded as venerable ,there is very little chance in this country of its ever becoming venerable at all The rule would send it to the dump heap at ninety without remorse, even if its character were such that, had the march of business been ten years slower, it would have come to be treasured in the relic class —New York Tribune.

Recording Finger Prints

Hitherto it has been customary in following up criminal clews, to make a permanent record of finger prints by photographic means. This method, however, has a number of obvious disadvantages. Thus, for example, cases arise in which the finger print to be recorded is not accessible to an ordinary camera Or again it may be located upon some rounded surface which cannot be properly focused Dr Heindl describes one or two new methods which overcome these difficulties The first method consists in dusting the impression—which is always more or less greasy—with some colored powder, and then expressing against it a paper treated with a mixture of fifty grams wax, fifty grams paraffin, and twenty drops of glycerin An excelent inverted copy is thus obtained and as the paper is entirely flexible any kind of a surface can be thus treated The second method makes use of photographic gelatine paper in place of that prepared as above

Bad Men Feel Pain More.

Does a bad man feel pain more than a man who leads an honest life? It has been stated apropos the decision of the British house of commons to punish white slavers by flogging, that by a happy provision of nature the skin appears actually to become more sensitive as the moral sense becomes deadened A doctor said that as a rule those who are criminally inclined bear pain or bodily suffering of any kind extremely badly Men who are quite hardened on the moral side of their character seem to get more self-conscious about their physical feelings than ordinary men do A man who is morally lax leads a loose life and destroys his nervous system He feels pain much more acutely than a man of average temperate habits and a clean conscience

NOTHING OF DIGNITY

A curious childish horseplay of the Holi festival, which is celebrated annually by the maharajah of Patiala, is described by Mr. Charles Bertram.

Early in the morning I went to the club, where I found many of the guests, who were taking part in the ceremony for the first time. We were provided with a complete new suit of Hindu garments and our dressing was superintended by the maharaja's servants We had camels, elephants and victorias provided for us I was on an elephant in a kind of box, and we drove in procession to the palace in the native city.

We were received with great acclaim by the natives, and I was led to believe that it was to be decidedly a dignified occasion; but I was woefully distaken The fun had not begun Certain formalities had to be gone through before the signal was given.

We took our seats in the courtyard of the palace, at a long table that was loaded with large gilt dishes filled with different colored balls as large as oranges and filled with Holi powder At a signal the brother of the maharaja came to the front of the table and salaamed to the prince, who took one of the balls and threw it gently across the table, striking the officer on the breast

The ball broke and scattered the powder over his costume Then there was a general scramble, and in less time than it takes to write, hundreds of balls were flying about, their many colored contents scattered broadcast on the crowd Next baskets of loose powder were thrown upon us in handfuls

It was no use to expostulate; the moment you opened your mouth somebody filled it with powder. The battle grew fast and furious, when suddenly an enormous stream of water from a fire engine drenched everybody. The colored powder became wet, and mingling together, dyed us all in brilliant variegated hues.

After this sort of thing had gone on for half an hour it ceased by mutual consent, and we returned to the private gardens of the maharajah, where we were most unceremoniously pitched into a tank of running water. I was dyed a deep scarlet all over my body, and it was fully a month before the color entirely disappeared from my face and hands—Youth's Companion

End of a Noted Folly.

The monocle has long since been out of fashion in England, and is soon to disappear from Paris, which has been its last stronghold. It was invented by a Dutch dandy, and its evil effects upon the eye were at once noted by oculists The monocle first appeared at the congress of Vienna in 1814, when it was worn by its inventor One folly, at least, has had only about a century of life.

Cultivate Sense of Humor.

A sense of humor is certainly the salt of life, either of the married variety or the plain, single existence. To see the funny side of many of the trivial annoyances of life at the time they happen certainly eases the situation.

WAYS OF FRENCH BEGGARS

Beggars and professional vagabonds who have passed thirty years do not fail each year when the winds of October blow to select their winter quarters.

It is then that each of them commits some offense, well knowing that he will get a penalty of six months' imprisonment. The delinquent so times his offense that he will not be at liberty until the mouth of April, in the first warm breezes of spring. He chooses his winter quarters wisely, for he knows the good and bad prisons.

Fresnes, because of its valued and luxurious accommodations, occupies the first rank among prisons. This year the temperature was such as to bring about some true knavery on the part of these beggars and vagabonds. From the month of August they were forced to commit some offense in order to assure themselves a shelter.

So la Sante, the antechamber of Fresnes, was gorged with prisoners for whom the tardy rays of the September [illegible] istrates show clemency and condemn these derelicts to only six months of prison the disaster of these poor devils will be complete, for they will, without pity, be thrown into the street in the open month of January.—le Ori de Paris.

ARE HANDSOMEST IN WORLD

Royal Irish Constabulary Bear Off the Palm From All Police of the Earth.

According to those most entitled to speak on the comparative pulchritude of the police, the Royal Irish Constabulary bear off the palm from all policemen in all other parts of the world. Dean Hole is quoted in the London Chronicle as contributing the following tribute to the fascinations of the noble Irish force:

"Our London police are well favored in appearance, but if the Royal Irish Constabulary were to take their place for a week there wouldn't be a single female servant to be warranted heart whole in the metropolis."

London goes to the rural districts for its policemen largely, and the result is often as amusing, not to say exasperating, as that which arises in New York from the employment of foreign car conductors, sublimely ignorant of city streets and neighborhoods. The Chronicle writer tells of on encounter with an inexperienced policeman who was asked the whereabouts of a famous firm in the neighborhood, to which query the new bobby replied gayly:

"Bless ye, I know no more than yourself, sir. I only came up from Dorset yesterday."

Tea Drinking a Vice?

A foreign critic says: "In hunting a cause for this apparent decadence of the once mighty people (the British), some scientists have had much to say on the subject of tea drinking, for nowhere else is the habit so universal as in the British Isles. Women and children drink tea off and on during the day. Business men have to stop their work at intervals to partake of their tea. And in most instances the brew is exceptionally strong. It has been estimated that each person in Great Britain, on an average, takes a daily dose of 3.6 grains of alkaloid and 9.7 grains of tannin consumed in tea. This means that the average tea drinker takes half as much alkaloid and nearly as much tannin as the Maximum allowed by the British pharmacopoeia for an occasional dose. And, of course, many thousands of people drink a great deal more than the average dose."

Speed of a Bullet.

Experiments with improved instruments for measuring the velocity of projectiles have shown that the speed goes on increasing after the missile has left the mouth of the cannon. Leaving the muzzle with a velocity of 1,474 feet a second, a projectile has been observed to increase its speed to 1,689 feet a second within the first six feet. It is only after having traveled 25 yards that the projectile's velocity becomes reduced to the speed it has on leaving the muzzle. This is ascribed to the impulse of the expanding gas being felt for some distance beyond the cannon's mouth.

Cheek.

"Cheek" in the sense of impudence is an old term. The earliest quotation in Sir James Murray's dictionary is from Captain Marryat (1840). But it has lately been found in the sixteenth century records of Galway, in the west of Ireland. The municipal rulers of that fighting city—the "man from Galway" has become proverbial for pluck and readiness to defend the hottest of corners—decreed that any person giving "cheek" to the mayor should "forfeit 100 shillings and have his body put into prison."

Varying Melting Points.

The melting points of various heat resisting materials have been thus determined by the United States bureau of standards: Fireclay brick, 2,831 to 3,137 degrees Fahrenheit; bauxite brick, 2,841 to 3,245 degrees; chromite brick, 3,772 degrees; magnesia brick, 3,929 degrees; bauxite, 3,308 degrees; chromite, 3,956 degrees; pure alumina, 3,650 degrees; pure silica, 3,182 degrees; silicon carbide, beginning to decompose at 4,030 degrees, but does not melt below 4,892 degrees.
